Please note the definition of each of the five types of membership available in the Connecticut Counseling Association and select your membership accordingly.

1. Professional members shall hold a master's degree or higher in counseling or a closely related field from a college or university that was accredited by one of the regional accrediting bodies recognized by the Council on Post-Secondary Accreditation when the degree was awarded. Professional members shall present proof of academic credentials.
2. Regular members shall include persons whose interests and activities are consistent with those of the Association, but who are not qualified for Professional membership.
3. Emeritus members who, having reached the age of sixty-five (65), and having been a member of at least five (5) years of at least one Division or its antecedent, and a current member in good standing at the time of submission of a completed application form and maintains said membership until a decision is made by the Governing Council may request Emeritus membership under qualifications established by the Governing Council. Emeritus membership is granted to an individual by a vote of the Governing Council. Emeritus members shall be exempt from the payment of dues to the Association and to one Division, but shall retain all the rights and privileges of dues paying members. In addition, the registration fee for the CCA Annual Conference shall be waived.
4. Retired members shall be retired in their professional career and have been members of at least one Division or its antecedent for the immediate five successive years before retirement. A member not reaching the age of 65 upon retirement, shall pay the same dues as student members. Having reached the age of 65, a retired member may seek Emeritus status.
5. Student members shall be attending an accredited master's level graduate counseling program. The student rate is accessible for one year post-graduation as a new professional in the field.
